

Q.103: Do you prefer to be employed or to work for yourself?

More than three fifth of the respondents would like to have both a job and a business at the same time. The second most common preference of the respondents is to have a good business (18%) followed by their preference to have a steady job (14%). In the Youth Livelihoods Diaries we asked the question with only the choice between “good business” or “good steady job”. In that question the vast majority (usually more than 90%) preferred to have their own business. We now suspect that the more relevant question is to find out whether they prefer to pursue both these careers simultaneously.

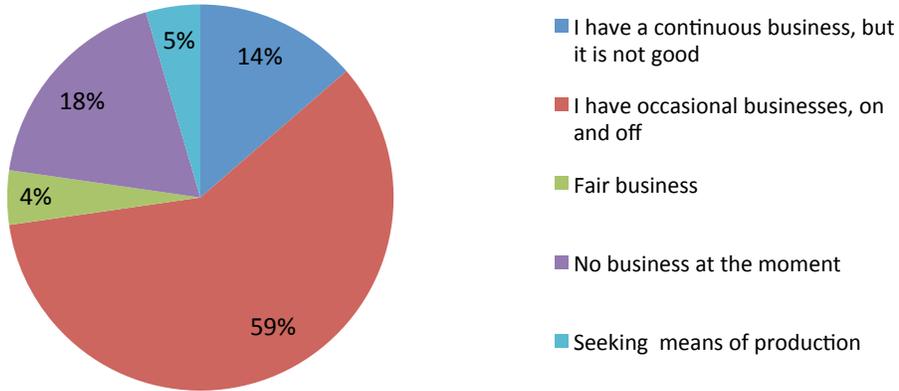

Q.104: How do you describe yourself at this moment regarding a job?

Half of the respondents report to have ‘irregular, unstable employment’. 18% mentioned they ‘have a continuous job’ which they don’t consider to be good while 14% stated they ‘have a good, steady job’. Please note that the question did not offer the category “no job” but there was the option of “other”.

Q.105: How do you describe yourself at this moment regarding a business?

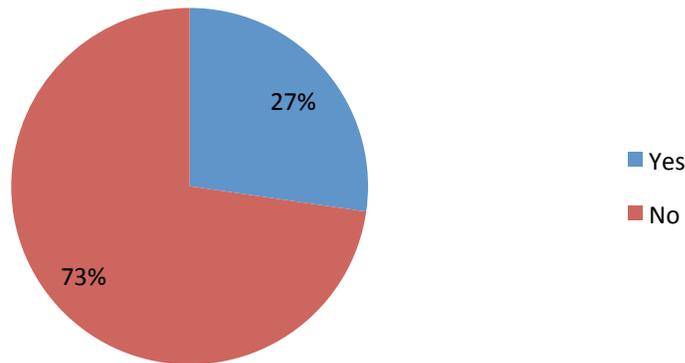

How do you describe yourself at this moment regarding a business?

77% of the respondents are involved in some kind of business activity. Of these, majority 'have occasional businesses, on and off'. 23% have 'no business at the moment' or are "seeking means of production". This means that none of the respondents reported "I have a good business"

Q.106: Are you currently looking for a loan?

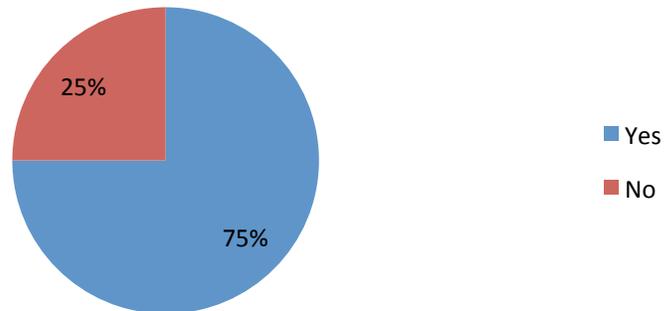

Are you currently looking for a loan?

Only 27% of the respondents are looking for a loan while the remaining majority are not.

Q.107: Do you expect to want a loan in the future?

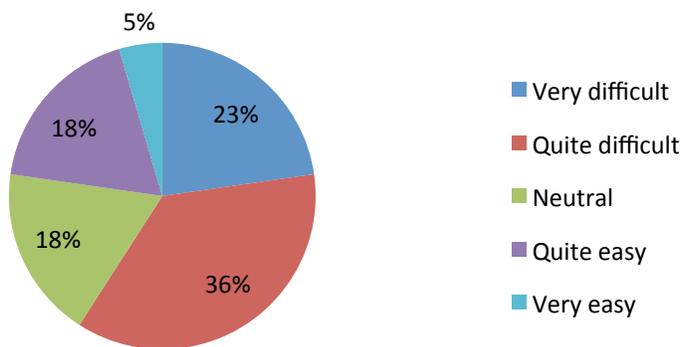

Do you expect to want a loan in the future?

Three fourth of the respondents expect to want a loan in the future.

Q.108: Do you consider it easy or difficult to get a loan?

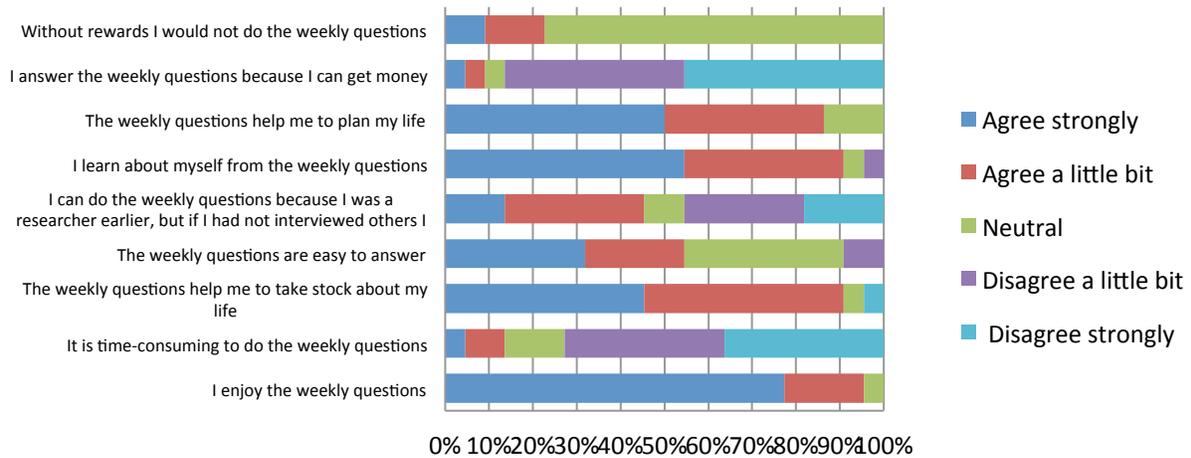

Do you consider it easy or difficult to get a loan?

Around three fifth of the respondents consider it difficult ('very difficult' and 'quite difficult' combined) to get a loan while 23% consider it easy ('very easy' and 'quite easy' combined).

Q.110: Do you agree or disagree with the following statements?

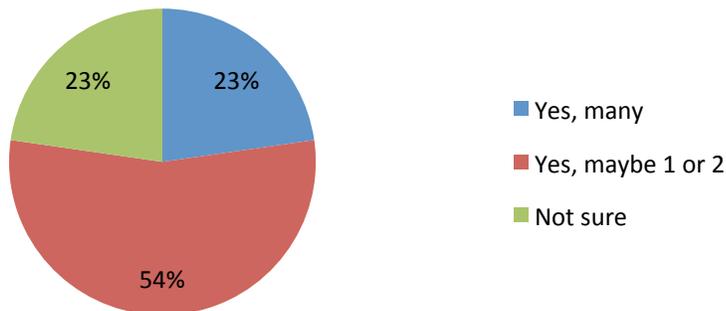

Do you agree or disagree with the following statements?

Most respondents ‘agree strongly’ with positive statements about the self-diaries. ‘I enjoy the weekly questions’, ‘I learn about myself from the weekly questions’ and ‘the weekly questions help me to plan my life’ are the most common statements they ‘agree strongly’ with. Most respondents remained neutral to the statement ‘without rewards, I would not do the weekly questions’.

Q.111: Do you know others who may like to participate in self-diaries?

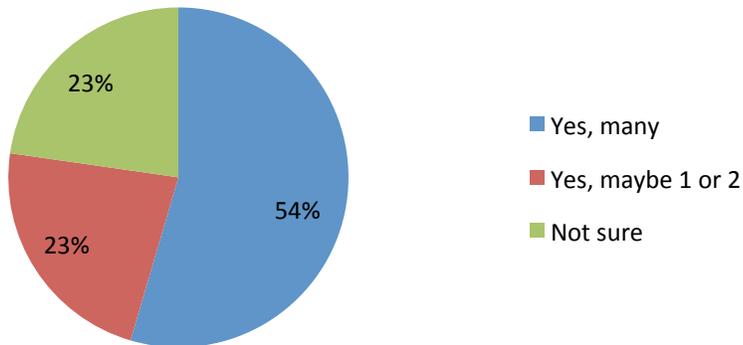

Do you know others who may like to participate in self-diaries?

Almost four fifth of the respondents know others who may like to participate in the self-diaries. But most just think it would be 1 or 2.

Q.112: Do you think your FEDU respondents would like to access their profile from the FEDU research?

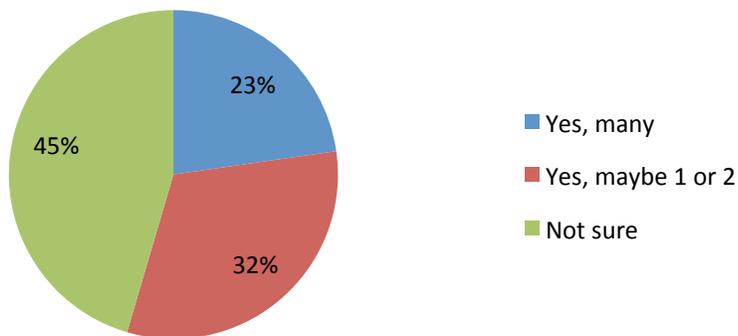

Do you think your FEDU respondents would like to access their profile from the FEDU research?

Majority of them revealed the interest of the FEDU respondents to access their profile from the FEDU research.

Q.113: Do you think your FEDU respondents would like to participate in self-diaries? (just answer in general, assuming they have the technology to participate, this could be even on a normal phone

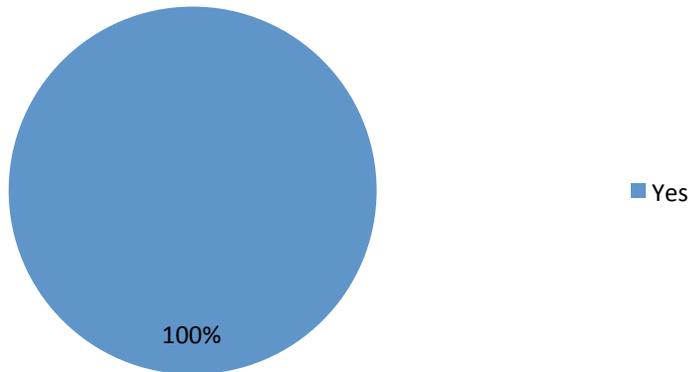

Do you think your FEDU respondents would like to participate in self-diaries?

About half of them mentioned their FEDU respondents might like to participate in self-diaries, but this is mostly just 1 or 2 people.

Q.114: Would you like to access your own reported data?

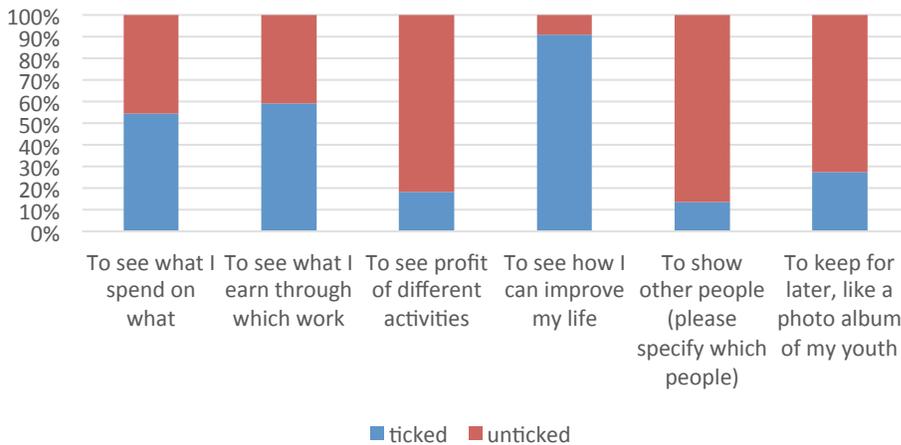

Would you like to access you own reported data

All of them would like to access their reported data.

Q.115: For what purpose would you like to access your own data?

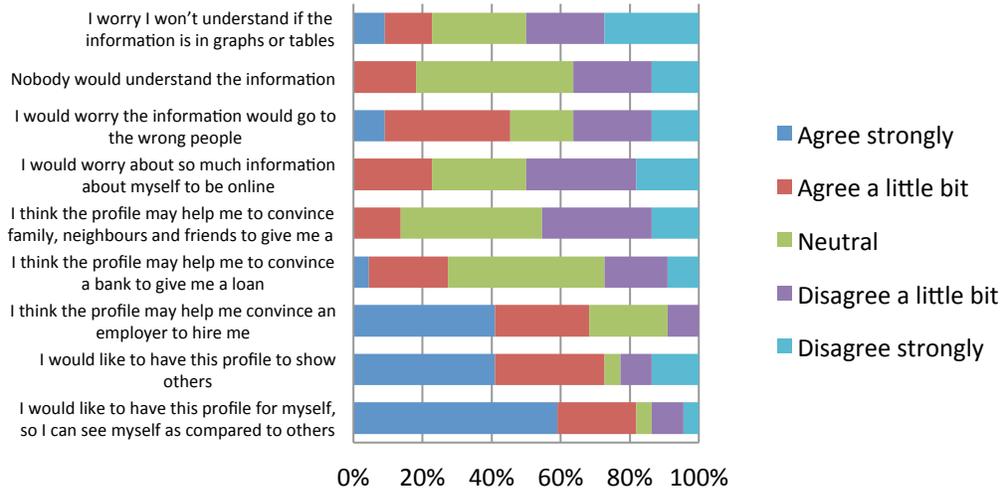

For what purpose access own data

'To see how I can improve my life' is the most common purpose the respondents would like to access their data for (practically all of them selected this). This is followed by 'to see what I earn through which work' and 'to see what I spend on what' (both selected by over 50% of the respondents).

Q.117: What do you think of this idea of this livelihood profile platform? Do you agree or disagree with the following statements?

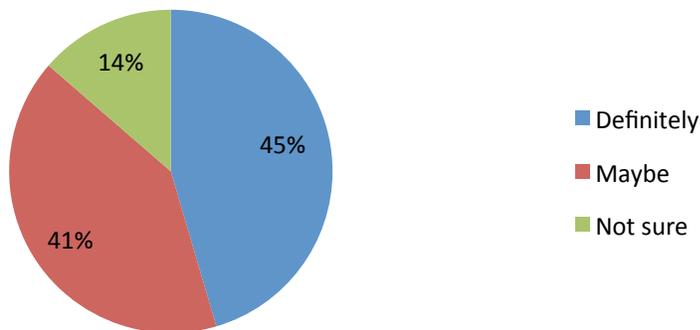

What do you think of this idea of this livelihood profile platform

With regard to the idea of the livelihood profile platform, most of the respondents agree with the statements 'I would like to have this profile for myself, so I can see myself as compared to others', 'I would like to have this profile to show others' and 'I think the profile may help me convince an employer to hire me'. They also expressed their worry that the information would go to the wrong people.

Q.118: We think such a platform with your profiles would make it easier for banks to give you a loan. If that turns out to be true, would you like to participate in such a platform?

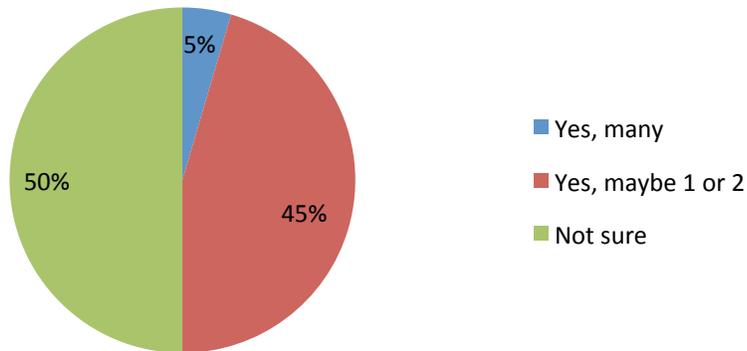

We think such a platform with your profiles would make it easier for banks to give you a loan. If that turns out to be true, would you like to participate in such a platform?

Almost half of the respondents would 'definitely' like to participate in a platform which would make it easier for banks to give them a loan.

Q.119: Do you know others who may be interested in participating in such a platform if that helps accessing loan?

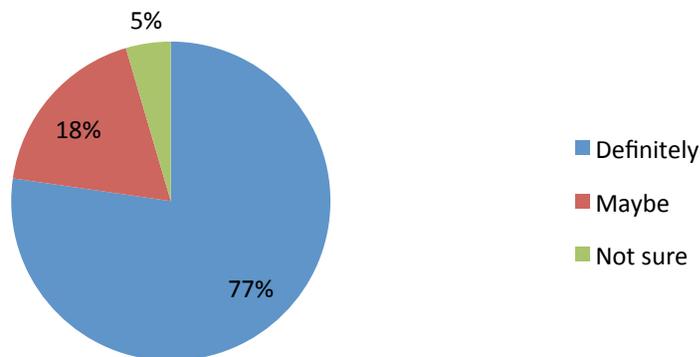

Do you know others who may be interested in participating in such a platform if that helps accessing loan?

Half of the respondents know others who may be interested in participating in a platform that helps to access a loan.

Q.120: We think such a platform would make it easier for employers to decide to hire you as staff. If that turns out to be true, would you like to participate in such a platform?

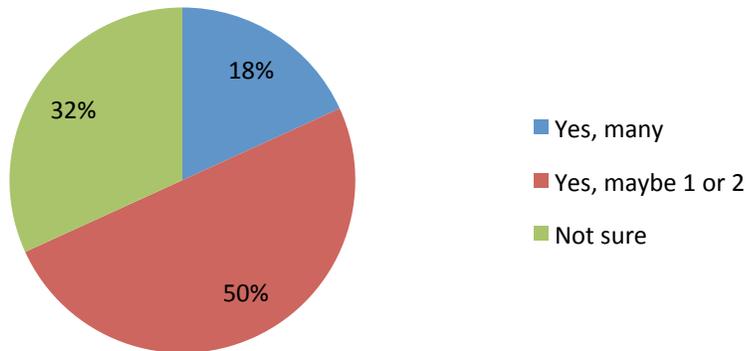

We think such a platform would make it easier for employers to decide to hire you as staff. If that turns out to be true, would you like to participate in such a platform?

Almost four fifth of the respondents would 'definitely' like to participate in a platform which would make it easier for employers to decide to hire them as staff.

Q.121: Do you know others who may be interested in participating in such a platform if that helps accessing jobs?

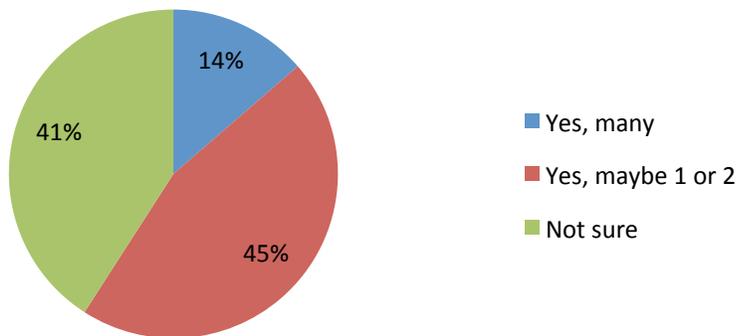

Do you know others who may be interested in participating in such a platform if that helps accessing jobs?

Majority of the respondents know others who may be interested in participating in a platform that helps to access jobs.

Q.122: Do you think your FEDU respondents would be interested to participate in the platform?

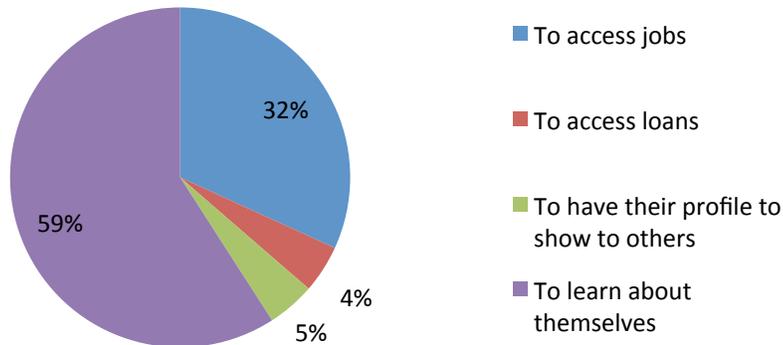

Do you think your FEDU respondents would be interested to participate in the platform?

About three fifth of the respondents think their FEDU respondents would like to participate in the platform.

Q.123: What would be the main attraction to the FEDU participants to be part of the platform?

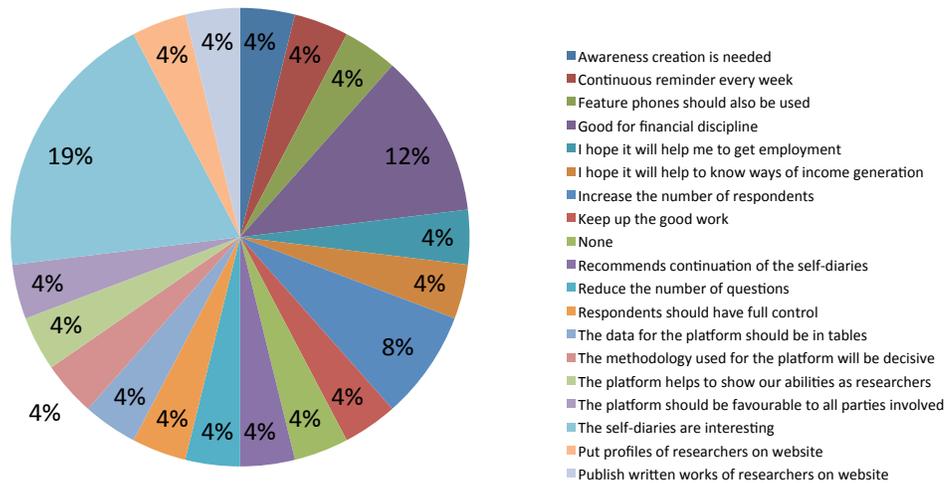

What would be the main attraction to the FEDU participants to be part of the platform?

The respondents claimed the primary attractions to the FEDU participants to be part of the platform are 'to learn about themselves' and 'to access jobs'.

Q.124: Please tell us any ideas you may have around the self-diaries and the platform?

Ideas you may have around the self-diaries and the platform

The most common ideas are 'the self-diaries are interesting' and that they are 'good for financial discipline'.