

Week 18: Entrepreneurship

Q. 101: Which statement do you agree with?

The statements most of the respondents 'agree strongly' with are 'I have new ways to solve problems', 'I can manage people effectively, assign roles for work and keep project moving toward completion' and 'I know how to sell ideas and products and can describe what selling involves'.

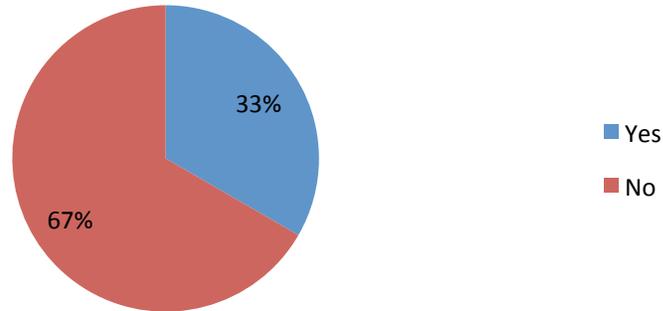

Q.102: Which statement do you agree with regarding risk taking?

The respondents have a positive view about risks. Most of them 'believe that higher risks are worth taking for higher rewards', are 'prepared to invest a lot of their own capital to take a business opportunity' and 'regularly take calculated risks to gain potential advantage'.

Q.103: At present do you have a small business

At present do you have a small business?

A full one third of the respondents currently have a small business.

Q.104: How would you categorize the reason for your business

How would you categorize the reason for your business

The reason for their business is primarily 'necessity driven'.

Q.105: Have you helped anyone with a business?

Have you helped anyone with a business?

Two third of the respondents have helped someone with a business.

Q.106: Have you considered starting your own business in the near future?

Have you considered starting your own business in the near future

All of them have thought about starting their own business in the near future.

Q.107: What type of challenge do you think you will face

What type of challenge do you think you will face?

'Lack of funding' is presented by the respondents as the primary challenge they might face.

Q.108: How do you perceive funding/capital in entrepreneurship?

How do you perceive funding/capital in entrepreneurship?

One third of the respondents think 'funding is the only thing that is important in a business'. 45% mentioned 'it is the least important' while 11% said 'it is important but to a certain extent'. It is interesting to see that although lack of capital is the major concern of the respondents, factors other than funding are given more importance by majority of the respondents.

Q.109: Do you think funds/capital are accessible?

Do you think funds/capital are accessible?

Only one third of the respondents think funds/capital are accessible while the remaining majority claim they are not.

Q.110: How best do you think that those funds can be accessed?

How best do you think that those funds can be accessed

Majority of the respondents stated funds can be accessed primarily from loans. 'Seeking finance' was mentioned as the other method of accessing funds.

Q.111: Do you feel that you have the skills and training to start a business

Do you feel that you have the skills and training to start a business?

Around four fifth of the respondents mentioned they have the skills and training to start a business while the remaining feel that they need more training and skills.

Q.112: Do you feel that you have sufficient technical skills?

Do you feel that you have sufficient technical skills?

Majority of the respondents feel that they have technical skills.

Q.113: Do you feel that you have sufficient managerial skills?

Do you feel that you have sufficient managerial skills

All of them feel that they have sufficient managerial skills.

Q.114: Do you feel that you need further skills and training?

Do you feel that you need further skills and training

All of them feel that they need further skills and training.